«End of August. Interim summary»

Right now it's August 26, 2025. August will soon end, and with it the first month of my notes. September 1st will be a small anniversary since the first work.

Soon I plan to release a compilation of unpublished ideas from the passing August, as well as a note about continents and the role of geology, geography, and related fields in this project.

Friedrich Evrasaevsky